Homecoming 2010: A Report

Homecoming 2010 took place on the weekend of October 2/3 this year and we all owe a special thank you to Brother Philbrook for helping us get into the swing of things by starting a streak of fantastic homecoming celebrations at the pep rally on Friday night. The migration of alumni from Sonka's back to the house occurred both Friday and Saturday nights, with basement bar in full swing both nights, and country bar making a huge comeback on Friday night. The indie bands Donora and Lohio were at our house Friday and Saturday night to play basically a free set for us, and party afterwards. Even though the event caused some controversy during the planning stages, alumni who were opposed to the bands sought shelter at basement bar during the sets. Local economics experts predicted that the average price of tortilla shells and cheese rose by an amount upwards of 150% while the alumni were around. Congratulations to the basement for being the first part of the house to be cleaned on Sunday, and thanks to all of the alumni who came back and had fun with all of us young folk.

Alumni Funfetti Quesadilla

- Heat griddle to full blast
- Apply half tub of butter to one side of a tortilla shell
- Grill tortilla and apply 2 large handfuls of shredded cheese
- Apply other half of butter tub to top quesadilla shell
- Gracefully flip tortilla with nearest kitchen implement
- Apply 2 lbs. sprinkles, 1 lb of oregano, grill for 10 minutes
- Remove from grill, smother in salsa, enjoy.

Fest-of-Ales: Starting a New Tradition

Last year an impromptu gathering of many of Delta Sigma Phi's home-brewers to sample each other's craft ales turned into this year's Delta Sigma Phi Fest-of-Ales. For $10 a glass alumni and appropriately aged actives could get a pint glass and a taste of a wide variety of homebrews that alumni brought with them. Proceeds from the event went straight to the chapter in what ended up being an extremely successful fundraising event. Thanks to Brothers Lane, Snyder, Meyer, Lee, Clark, and Ramey for donating their homebrews to the event, and a special thanks to Brother Aaron Boggs for organizing the event and getting the glasses for us. Hopefully this tradition will stay with the chapter and help raise money for Zeta Lambda from here on out.

Summer Alumni Project

The summer alumni project this year involved resurfacing the parking lot which had been suffering from a couple of giant depressions that would fill with water and make driving/walking through the lot hazardous. All new gravel was brought in and leveled out over the summer, providing a much safer and much less bumpy surface to drive on. Thanks to all the alumni and actives who helped with the project, and maybe now our parking lot will stay in much better condition (we can always hope).

Rush Report: Bid Tuesday Approaches

This article was written the day after our annual "Stud Night" rush event (special thanks to brother Chad "Chunder" Wenn for hosting) and many brothers around the house are feeling optimistic about this year's possible pledge class. Both Soberfest and Stud Night this year have generated a ton of positive feedback from the freshman, and the hopes of a pledge class numbering between 25-30 quality guys are seeming more and more real. With mystery road trip as our last major event scheduled, actives look forward to spending the day with freshmen at one of 3 locations: King's Island, and IU vs. University of Illinois football game, or a caving trip near Indianapolis. Bid Tuesday is October 28th this year, and if rush finishes strong we hope to bring in a great new group of freshmen.
